

Table of contents

Introduction	11-17
Iain Walker, Manuel João Ramos and Preben Kaarsholm
The Coast of Sofala (Mozambique) in the 16th Century: Between the African trade routes and the Indian Ocean trade	19-36
Ana Roque
The Role of “Brokers” in Securing the Dutch Slave Trade on Madagascar during the Eighteenth Century	37-64
Rafael Thiebaut
‘Behind so many names, the sea’. Mozambique and the Indian Ocean	65-80
Elena Brugioni
‘Sponsorshipped’: Reflections on female temporary migration from the Horn of Africa to the Gulf and Lebanon	81-101
Manuel João Ramos
Confronting the ‘Arab North’: Interpretations of Slavery and Religion in Southern Sudanese Separatist Resistance	103-129
Aleksi Ylönen
India and Africa: Maritime Security and India’s Strategic Interests in the Western Indian Ocean	131-167
Denis Venter
A Notice to Motion: Exploring states of stillness through the event of waiting on the arrested vessel WBI Trinity at the port of Cape Town	169-195
Meghna Singh	